TO PREVENT FALSE VOTING Some one in New York has suggested the following method to prevent fraud on the ballot box

"Let a poll book be prepared like a check book, with tickets or checks that can be torn off and tallies that can be preserved The voter's name is then to be written so that the first letter crosses the tally and check both where they are to be torn apart the check is given to him, and he produces it when he votes To forge such a check is impossible, as it must coincide exactly with the piece remaining in the book No challenges are to be allowed at the poll, but would have to be made beforehand for which purpose the registry would be printed and posted up, and the Board would sit abundant time to hear such cases This is a scheme insuring absolute protection from repeating "

Let this plan be tried in New York City If it proves equal to the emergency there, it may be safely put into general use, and thereby the one great evil of our elective system completely abolished

THE SHIPPING INTERESTS

Several interests are represented here in opposition to the bills reported by the Com. on the Causes of the reduction of American tonnage. Richard S Spofford, Jr, will this morning present the remonstrance of the Boston pilots against being legislated out of their occupation by the passage of one of these bills before the Committee which framed it, and Captain Codman has obtained permission to appear before the Com. on Commerce to urge such legislation as will permit the purchase of foreign built vessels by Americans.

CONSTITUTIONALITY OF POLYGAMY.

Brigham Young has informally sent word that he is willing to abide the decision of the Supreme Court on the constitutionality of polygamy as a part of the Mormon religion, protected by that clause of the Constitution which guarantees religious freedom

PROGRESS OF CONGRESSIONAL BUSINESS.

A comparison of the progress already made in the business of Congress with the rate of previous years shows that it is well advanced. The Georgia bill is causing delay and the measures of the Ways and Means Committee are behind, but the judgment of Speaker Blaine is that an adjournment can take place early in June.

AWARD OF PRIZE MONEY.

At the meeting of the Com on Naval Affairs the forenoon it was agreed to report a bill to give $100,000 to the officers and crew of the U S. steamer Wyoming as prize money for certain captures made in Japanese waters.

BROOKLYN NAVY YARD TO BE SOLD.

Messrs Scofield and Starkweather were directed to report in relation to the removal of Brooklyn Navy Yard. The removal is determined on, but when and where is yet to be decided.

AN IMPORTANT INVENTION.

In view of the great number of boiler explosions in the country of late, much interest attaches here to the series of experiments just finished at Washington Navy Yard, under the direction of Admiral Dahlgren with a double action safety valve, invented by a Mr. Boden of Louisville The first trial was hydraulic, the second by fire, and both were eminently successful In making the latter, the boiler, having no water in it, was heated to as high a temperature as was deemed necessary, and then suddenly supplied with water through a two inch aperture The steam formed and instantly, as the outer valve rose the inner valve fell, and the necessary relief was given. This trial at the Navy Yard is the fifth to which the Boden valve has been subjected, the first having been by red heat the second by black heat, and one having been a deliberate attempt made by a practical steamboat engineer with the inventor's consent to blow an old boiler to atoms The attempt failed.

CONDITION OF COLORED PEOPLE IN TENNESSEE.

Moses Johnson, a clergyman from Tennessee, appeared before the House Com. on Reconstruction to-day and gave a most eloquent report of the condition of the people of his race in Tennessee. He states that not a night passes in which one or more colored persons are not put to death in the most barbarous manner Hanging, shooting, whipping, burning, and, indeed, the inquisitorial punishments, are of common occurrence, but the fiends who perpetrate these crimes against humanity are still at large They are well known, however, and they could be brought to justice if the laws could be enforced Mr Johnson, and other colored citizens of Tennessee who have accompanied him here, are to have a hearing to-morrow, and the indications are that Congress will do something for their relief Thus far, Gen. Butler has not drafted a bill for this purpose, as has been reported, nor has he exactly determined in his mind what shape legislation should take.

The Winsted (Conn) Herald is enraptured with the ice, "from a foot to 18 inches thick, clear and hard as crystal, and free to all comers," now being taken from a lake in its immediate neighborhood

JOHN H. LYNDE, - - PROPRIETOR.

THURSDAY, MARCH 17, 1870.

HOW WE GO WOOLING AND GET FLEECED

It requires but little encouragement for associated capital or individuals engaged in any enterprise to seek for profits beyond those which naturally and legitimately belong to them. Hence when it began to be apparent that our tariff must be raised in order to furnish means to carry on the war and pay the debt, men and corporations who could frame the least plausible excuse for it invaded Congress with representations that their interests must be protected, whatever else was done

Among those who sought the indirect bounty of the government through the means of protective tariff were the woolen manufacturers Congressmen were overwhelmed with the lugubrious pictures of woolen mills stopped and capital being wasted in useless attempts to manufacture woolen goods in this country without the strong protecting arm of the government And so this branch of industry was "protected" by a tariff on foreign woolen goods, amounting to about fifty per cent. ad valorem

But another set of men demanded "protection" These were the wool growers, who painted very sad pictures of the ruin that would come upon them if they could not be protected from the deluge of foreign fine wool that was being brought in And forthwith they were protected by a tariff on the raw material amounting, as compared with English prices for the same product, to nearly one hundred per cent.

But still another set of men, more rapacious than any, came in and demanded that coal should be protected from the ravages of those who would invade our shores with that article which might not only be made cheap for manufacturing purposes, but give the poor man cheap fuel And Congress kindly consented to throw its big arms about those feeble little innocents in the coal regions whose financial lives hung upon the careful artificial nursing of government It put a tariff of $1,25 per ton upon bituminous coal and forty cents per ton upon anthracite This was a success for them, as it proved substantially a prohibition upon the importation of coal and the monopolists laughed in their sleeves and pocketed the gains To the popular clamor for relief upon this they say to the Committee on Ways and Means, "Let up on anthracite because there isn't any to import, but hold on to bituminous because it is dangerous to suffer that competition—this will appease the people, and our profits will be just as big" And so the committee has consented to report this deceptive idea, and coal continues "protected" as before

So, one after another, various articles were covered with the guardian hand of the tariff These items are sufficient, however, for our purpose, which is to show that carrying out the principle of protection merely multiplies cost and destroys competition without the contemplated advantage to the woolen manufacturer. Foreign fine wool, which we must have in order to make fine cloths is so highly taxed that he cannot import it, coal is so high that he cannot afford to run his mills, and numerous other articles entering into his business are kept up by the same process So after all he cannot afford to manufacture, so well as he could without a tariff, to compete with foreign manufacturers This subject is now before Congress, and some significant developments are the result. As an instance, read carefully this little telegram sent from Washington yesterday

A memorial signed by 88 corporations and 12 individuals comprising nearly all the woolen manufacturers of the country, and representing over $15,000,000 capital, has been presented to the Committee on Ways and Means and Finance, strongly indorsing the Wells report and praying for a reduction in the tariff on fine wools to the rate on carpet grades"

And so the woolen manufacturers, seeing they have before pulled wool at too fine a degree, now propose to pull it a little coarser. In other words, they return to the principle of free trade and revenue tariff in substance This is a plain unvarnished tale, it needs no comment, it is carefully commended to the student of political economy with the request to answer this query Were the tariff rate of all articles reduced to a strict revenue basis, would not all our industries be equally well off, and would not the people profit thereby?

But the subject does not end here In fact, it just begins to be interesting.

It is a fact that, notwithstanding all our taxes and tariffs, woolen goods in this country are but very little higher on the average than in 1860 This would seem a curious result to those who merely skim over the surface. It is paraded by the advocates of high protective tariff as a proof that that policy will make goods cheap—as if to say that taxes are great aids to prosperity, and that the more we pay for goods the cheaper they become! Thus the Tribune, the only persistant high protective organ of much note now in the country being appealed to on all sides to desist from its attempts to lumber our industry, replies to the manufacturers by saying that they are "protected," to the wool growers that they are 'protected," and to the people that they get many of their woolens very low as a result of protection It ignores the facts in the case, which show that high tariffs operate against all interests, as an acknowledgment of them would be fatal to its dogmas

As briefly as possible, let us state the facts bearing upon this case of wool and woolens The manufacturers call for protection, and get it. If one interest gets protection, so should all—and wool growers demand and receive protection. The result is that foreign fine wool is so high that our mills, taxed also on coal and other articles, cannot buy it to manufacture so as to compete with the English mills They are therefore forced to confine their operations to the manufacture of coarse merino clothing wools, and we import the finer doeskins, broadcloths, cassimeres, &c., lower than we can make them, even with a "protection" of fifty per cent. This causes less sale for our own woolen, which can ordinarily be used with the foreign wool, and there is a consequent depression in the wool market, reducing the business of wool growing to a lower condition than was ever known before in this country. Thus while we have our goods comparatively cheap is not because the tariff has made our business prosperous, for it has almost ruined the profits of all connected with wool raising and manufacture Woolens are low because protection" has reduced the market for homestic wool, decreased the wool growth of the country, driven our manufacturers across the line where they can use material at comparatively small cost, encouraged smuggling, and given the European manufacturer a chance to flood our markets with the products of pauper labor, wrought from the best wools (superior to our own) upon which they pay no duty.

And this is the result of two or three years of a high protective tariff. The obvious conclusion is that when you undertake to protect one interest you tax another to pay the expense, and the only safe rule is to tax as little as possible consistently with our necessities The wealth of a nation is the only way for Congress to dispose of the whole question is to relieve from taxation, so far as safety to our revenues will allow, all articles of consumption affording to the people, such as food, clothing, fuel and the implements used to raise our crops, implements, fertilizers and lay the tariffs upon luxuries only, or such articles as will return the largest revenue with the smallest consequent burden to the people—The remedy is simple and effective reject the overtures of the monopolists, who want a high general protective tariff in order the better to cover the shameless extortions upon a few articles where protection gives enormous profits—and regard the interests of the many who prosper by free intercourse and exchange and who depend upon low prices in the common articles of consumption

A CRUEL HOAX

A dispatch was received from London yesterday morning stating that the long missing steamship City of Boston, of the Inman Line which has been out forty five days had arrived safely at Queenstown There was naturally great rejoicing everywhere London Liverpool, New York, and every place of any commercial importance, was loud in its demonstrations of rejoicing The universal sentiment was one creditable to those who sympathize deeply with suffering fellow creatures the popular heart beat with generous warmth only brought out by a great event like that but nevertheless, honorable to all

But it was a hoax! And then came the reaction Those hearts that had been stirred with rejoicing, were once more sad for the missing ones, and not only that—they were wrung with anger and remorse that any should be so cruel, so senseless, so lepers as to practice upon the public so cruel a fraud!—The denial of the news was slow of belief and was rejected till the agents of the Associated Press exposed the enormous hoax over their own signatures The President of that Association has offered a reward of five hundred dollars for the detection of the miscreant who invented it It was concocted no doubt by those worthless gamblers who prey as readily on any occasion of speculation, upon the hearts as upon the pocket of their victims

Several severe storms of late have visited the West, of which we have hardly felt a touch Even as far south as Richmond a few days ago they had nearly a foot of snow as the Railroads in New York were blockaded while we had only a very slight fall New York and the Middle States have again just been visited by a cold storm of snow, over ten inches having fallen in Pennsylvania accompanied by a severe gale Yesterday morning the storm and high tide in New York flooded Water Street and other streets contiguous to the river, and the goods there were removed from the cellars so as not to be swamped In Brooklyn the storm caused considerable damage In Gowanus (South Brooklyn) several streets, recently graded, are said to have been washed away The cellars of a number of houses are filled with water and the streets in that section are covered with boards, and some tunnel roofs were blown from frame buildings on 17th street, near 6th Avenue A large number of awnings in some of the principal streets were torn in shreds

The Pall Mall Gazette says the American accounts of the Oneida disaster are not only inconsistent with each other but are inconsistent with facts and with possibility Which is pure John Bullism If inconsistent with each other, it is only in degree of correctness in which the Captain of the Bombay is held—If inconsistent with facts, why don't they give us their facts" Before the hobbled act of the Bombay, these accounts would have been inconsistent with possibility, but and ninnies, any enormity is now possible

When Governor Walker of Virginia was elected the Democracy everywhere paraded him as a gentleman who had reached that station through conservative Republican influence merely to be Democratic to each other—But more recently they have kept remarkably quiet upon that point, is there has since leaked the fact that Governor Walker is in hearty accord with the policy of the administration His recent message is a moderate and statesmanlike document, exhibiting none of the clap-trap which inevitably creeps into such papers under the desperate manipulations of Democratic office-holders Perhaps the most important part of this message is its omission, in which he recommends that the lands donated to the State by the Federal Government for educational purposes amounting to over 300,000 acres, be sold, and a portion of the funds appropriated to the founding and maintenance of a college or high school devoted exclusively to the education of the freedmen Governor Walker is impressed with Northern ideas of the importance of education as a bulwark of political safety He says

"I am an earnest advocate of universal and free education. If the death knell of American liberty is ever sounded upon earth it will be the bell cord The colored people of this State are, equally with the white citizens with the elective franchise In order that they may intelligently exercise that right, the opportunity should, and under our Constitution must, be afforded them This cannot however, be accomplished by any system of mixed schools Each race must be provided for separately I have in years past and under the most favorable circumstances, witnessed a fair and impartial trial of the experiment, and it proved an utter failure It is true many of the colored people themselves demand that they should be provided with separate schools While they are entitled under our Constitution, to an equal participation in the benefits of a free common school system I would extend to them inducement and incentives to advancement in mental and moral development by the establishment of a college or university, as above suggested wherein shall be taught all the higher branches of useful knowledge"

Messrs. Anderson & Bryan editors of Savannah, have sent a dispatch to Representative Brooks, denying the assertion relative to lawlessness there as 'malicious fabrications!" They state that 'the community never was more free from political excitement and was never more quiet" Ku Klux terrorism means force quietness to their enemies and that is probably what this amounts to AUGUSTA, March 16, 1870.

The House held a session this afternoon.

The resolve appropriating $50,000 to the Agricultural College at Orono, was passed to be engrossed by a vote of 64 to 52, after a long and animated discussion.

The Committee on Valuation will report finally to-morrow upon wild lands.

Indications are favorable to an adjournment Saturday. QUIDAM.

FORTY-FIRST CONGRESS—SECOND SESSION.

WASHINGTON, March 16.

SENATE.

At one o'clock the Georgia bill was taken up, the galleries being thronged in anticipation of a speech by Mr. Revels, the colored Senator from Miss., who had been announced to speak on the subject. Mr. Morton, who was entitled to the floor, said he would yield in favor of the Senator from Mississippi. Mr. Revels then commenced his remarks, which during their entire delivery were listened to with close attention by the Senate and audience which densely filled the galleries.

Mr. Morton in complimenting Mr. Revels on his speech, expressed the opinion that in the exchange which had been made by which the gentleman occupied the place of Jefferson Davis, the Senate lost nothing in intelligence, while it gained much in patriotism and loyalty. He proceeded to argue that the Government of Georgia was Provisional and would so continue until actually represented in Congress. He claimed that in reconstruction legislation, Congress never assumed to give particular construction to the Constitution of the State, as did Mr. Bingham's amendment in declaring the length of the terms of the present State officers. Mr. Morton went on in review of the whole question, claiming the present Government of Georgia is only Provisional and declared Mr. Bingham's amendment was a source of exultation to the extreme or Southern wing of the Democratic party and opposed it as a violation of justice and of human rights.

The Senate then went into executive session and subsequently adjourned.

HOUSE.

Mr. Beaman stated that the entire amount estimated for expenditures for the current year, was only $206,101,433. The expenditures for 1868 inclusive of interest and principal of the public debt and the premiums paid on Treasury notes, amounted to $229,981,088. The expenditures for 1869, with like exceptions, amounted to $190,496,354. The expenditures for the first half of the current fiscal year, ending the 31st of December, 1869, with like exceptions, amounted to $87,116,969. Mr. Beamen of Mich., further proceeded to show the actual expenditures for the current fiscal year would be only $166,132,379, being $63,-732,709 less than those of 1868 and $24,268,-976 less than in 1869, and adding to this the payments on the public debt, $128,690,676 and the total would only be $294,823,054.

Mr. Beck of Ky., replied, reiterating his assertion of last Friday that the total expenditures of the current fiscal year would be four hundred millions and repeated some figures to prove his assertion. The subject was then laid aside and the deficiency bill wass passed.

The New York and Washington Air-line railroad bill was amended by the insertion of the name of Horace Greeley among the corporators, and a provision that Congress might alter or amend the charter, after which the bill went over.

Mr. Logan from the Com. on Military Affairs, reported that in the ease of Mr. Butler of Tenn., the Committee had arrived at the following conclusions—

First, that on the 21st of February, 1869, Mr. Butler recommended the appointment of Augustus C. Tyler, a son of Gen. Tyler, to the West Point Academy; second, that Tyler was not a resident of the First Congressional District of Tennessee; third, that after the appointment was made, the agent, or attorney of General Tyler had given to Mr. Butler nine hundred dollars, and that Mr. Butler had received it with the avowed intention of using it for political purposes in Tennessee. The Committee express the opinion that the conduct of Mr. Butler in appointing a non-resident of his District and subsequently accepting money from General Tyler, deserves the condemnation of the House.

FROM WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, March 16.

The House Committee on Foreign Affairs has completed its report on the French American Cable, opposing the proposed legislation adverse to the French Cable, because France denies the American citizens the right to lay a cable to connect with the coast of France. Quite likely France will reconsider her exclusive grant, and the Company themselves are moving towards the relinquishment of the monopoly which their concession guarantees.

The galleries of the Senate chamber to-day were crowded, and all its approaches were thronged, to hear Mr. Revels. He spoke from a position near the centre of the hall.—Almost the entire audience in the galleries rose with the first word, in order to obtain a view of him. He read from manuscript at first in a rather low tone, but as he progressed he acquired entire control of his delivery and lost the embarrassment which at first was apparent. Senators in their own seats, and members of the House and others on sofas, listened with marked attention and were favorably impressed, both with his diction and manner. On the conclusion of his speech, Mr. Cameron was the first to congratulate him, and in this was followed by Drake, Sumner, Stewart and Fenton, and a number of others.

LOCAL AND OTHER ITEMS.

—This is St. Patrick's Day. Our Irish citizens will undoubtedly enjoy it.

—The sleighing is excellent in Piscataquis county.

—Bangor Division S. of T.—a Temperance "slice" to-night.

MASONIC. J. P. Gill of Auburn, G. H. P., will install the officers of Mount Moria Royal Arch Chapter this (Thursday) evening, at Masonic Hall.

—Yesterday morning was the finest of the year, but towards night it clouded up and we may expect rain soon.

—Our dispatches were cut short last night owing to a heavy storm raging West of Portland, and the lines being down.

—The reception Tuesday evening at S. B. Fifield's, for Rev. W. W. Marsh, was a success, and the handsome sum of one hundred and fifty dollars was donated.

—The woodshed at Etna, which was destroyed by fire Tuesday, was owned by the Maine Central Railroad Company, and was nearly new. It contained two hundred cords of prepared wood, which was burned. This Company keep their property insured.

TOWN HOUSE AT OLDTOWN. We notice by a card published in yesterday morning's Whig, that Messrs. Charles V. Lord and Alfred Veazie, of this city, have made the town of Oldtown a present of a valuable lot for a town house. The town is out of debt, have money in their pockets, and can well afford to erect a fine building, and we have no doubt they will commence the work immediately. This affords a fine opportunity to secure what Oldtown greatly needs, a hall for public exhibitions, and we presume the new building will provide for the future as well as present wants of the people in that direction.

A LARGE POTATO. Mr. O. F. Tyler of this city received a monster potato from California yesterday by mail, under the law which allows the transportation of seeds in the mails. It was a foot long and weighed three pounds and two ounces.

BANGOR AND PISCATAQUIS RAILROAD.—The April coupons on the City of Bangor Bonds issued in aid of the Bangor & Piscataquis Railroad, will be paid at the office of the Company or at the Second National Bank Boston, on or after the first day of April.—This will be a great disappointment to the very few croakers who have predicted that the city would be compelled to pay these coupons.

—Lewiston is a disinterested city. It has voted twice for Mayor, and yet there's no choice. Another trial will probably take place this week, when there must be a choice as a plurality elects at the third trial. The Republicans are divided.

—A dispatch from Augusta last night informs us that fifty thousand dollars was voted for the Agricultural College when the deed is given, and adds that it was the "hottest battle of the season."

A GOOD ARRANGEMENT. On and after March 23d an extra train will be run on the Maine Central Road from Dexter and Newport to Bangor, arriving at 4.37 P. M. On the return trip cars leave the city at five P. M.. arriving at Dexter at 7 o'clock. This will be a great accommodation to persons doing business on the line of the road to Newport and Dexter, as it will enable them to reach the city in the morning by the regular freight train, and have until five in the afternoon to attend to business.

DRAMATIC ENTERTAINMENT. The Hibernian Mutual Benevolent Society will give a dramatic entertainment at Norombega Hall, this evening, which will be well worth patronizing. The drama "Dora," founded on Tennyson's Poem, will be presented as the principal attraction, and it will be followed by music, dancing and the amusing farce "Dead Shot." This amateur company has been well received at former exhibitions, and we have no doubt the present entertainment will draw a crowded house.

ALARM OF FIRE. About nine o'clock last evening fire was discovered in the store of Messrs. Pearson & Son, on Central street.—Upon bursting open the door the fire was found to be in a barrel of charcoal a short distance from the stove. It was carried into the street, and thus the fire was extinguished. It was a fortunate escape.

TOWN FARM IN CARMEL. A correspondent informs us that the town of Carmel has purchased the Alonzo Tilton farm for a home for their paupers. The price paid was $4,600. All the furniture, produce, farming implements, and stock except one carriage horse, were included in the sale. The farm embraces one hundred and fifty acres, about half well wooded.

—A series of games of draughts, for the championship of Maine, opened in Lewiston yesterday, between F. I. Day, of Lewiston, and Capt. W. H. Broughton, of Portland.—Eight games were played, of which Broughton won six, and two were drawn.

—The Machias Union says: "A horse quite valuable, owned by Capt. Pettangall, of Pembroke, was drowned in Gardner's Lake last Friday. The Captain's son was on his way to Machias, and crossed the Lake not knowing the weakness of the ice. The wagon, buffaloes, &c., were saved. We learn that the horse was valued at three hundred dollars.

—The following appropriations are allowed for Maine in the bill just reported to the House of Representatives:

For repairing damage done by the storm in September, 1869, to the Marine Hospital at Portland, $10,000; for balconies to widen the Custom House building in Bangor, $5000; for furniture for the Custom House at Bangor, $12,000.

—The Lewiston Journal hears that the Bates Mills in paying off, are using specie for making change this month.

—A correspondent of the Lewiston Journal protests that Minnesota correspondents are wrong in contrast of Minnesota weather with that of Maine, and adds: "I am satisfied that a man will freeze sooner on the prairie of Minnesota, with the mercury at the same point, than in Maine. I know, too, of people who were as anxious to get out of Minnesota as they were to get there, notwithstanding the advantages set forth by Western speculators."

—A few days since, the schooner Jason, Captain Small, from Maine, arrived at Flushing, N. Y., with a load of lumber for Geo. B. Roe & Co., of that place. On Tuesday, the vessel was unloaded and ready to leave, and Captain Small went to New York and engaged a tow boat to come up after his schooner and take her to the city. After engaging the tow boat, he started from New York for Flushing, and was seen at Hunter's Point the same day en route for Flushing, since which time he has not been heard from. Foul play is feared.

—The election in Westbrook on Monday turned on the division question. The petitioners for division called a caucus and nominated candidates; the opposers of division called a citizens' caucus and also nominated candidates. Considerable interest was manifested, but only some 1000 voters turned out. The Citizen, or antidivision ticket was elected, receiving 557 votes to 495 for the other, or 62 majority.

—The Portland Argus says that Mr. M. P[illegible]

[illegible] present Portland & Kennebec Railroad Company for the long term of 21 years.

—The Journal says that four hundred and fifty-seven sacks, containing about 7000 bushels of mail matter, were sent from the Post Office in Augusta last week.

CITY AFFAIRS.

The last regular meeting of the City Council for the present municipal year was held on Monday evening last.

The following reports of committees were accepted:

Of the Special Committee on subject of the Mayor's communication in relation to the enforcement of the law to suppress drinking houses and tippling shops.

Of the Committee on By-Laws and Police Regulations on the subject of the act to authorize the city of Bangor to extend further aid in completing the Bangor & Piscataquis that said bill is identical with the draft of the same, as approved by the City Council.

Of the special committee on the claim of Mrs. M. Y. Emerson for remuneration for storehouse, torn down during the fire of January 1, 1869, by direction of city officers.

The Common Council non-concurred in the action of the Board of Aldermen on the petition of A. E. Pote for the city to pay part of the expense of erecting the front wall of his building on the north side and east end of Kenduskeag Bridge, and referred the same to the next City Council. The Aldermen receded and concurred.

Orders passed—

To rescind the order directing the Street Engineers to lay out streets along the wharves on each side of Kenduskeag Stream, and referring the subject to the next City Council.

The order accepting the act authorizing this city to extend further aid in completing the Bangor & Piscataquis Railroad, and that the same be submitted to the legal voters of this city for their acceptance, was passed.

On report of committee of conference on the subject of the disagreement of the two Boards on the order for the City Treasurer to execute a contract with Webster Treat & als for the building of the wall of the stores now in process of erection by them at the east end of Kenduskeag Bridge, the Common Council receded and passed said order in concurrence.

Order for Committee on Public Schools to consider the necessity of repairing immediately the school house on Pine street near Cumberland street, or providing some convenient place for the schools that occupy said house. Referred to next City Council.

Order authorizing the payment of $125 to Mrs. M. Y. Emerson for her storehouse, torn down to prevent the spreading of the fire on January 1st, 1869.

Order giving permission to the Bangor Water Company to lay down their pipes, &c., in the city of Bangor, was slightly amended and passed.

An Ordinance was passed investing the Superintendent of Public Schools with police authority and providing for the appointment of that office by the Aldermen, subject to approval of the Mayor and Common Council.

The ordinance in relation to the appointment of Policemen and assigning to each his station, was referred to the Committee on By-Laws and Police Regulations.

The final meeting of the City Council will be held next Saturday evening.

MOUNT HOPE.

A receiving tomb, we understand, is about to be erected at Mount Hope by the City, at an expense of some $5000, and the locality of the present erection is fixed upon for the new one. This will necessitate what is understood to be the plan agreed upon, to have the building all under ground except the front and roof. On enquiry, it is ascertained that the expense of erecting the building all above the surface of the ground, on some level spot, will not be any greater than that contemplated.—Why then should not the latter design be accepted, especially when so many beautiful spots exist at the Cemetery, where such a building may be erected and which would so beautify the grounds. Have a commodious, airy and well ventilated receptacle, where free dom from dampness and mould, and the pure air and light of the outer world may help take away the chill of death and the sombreness of the tomb. With how much more pleasure or less gloom will the bereaved family turn away from such a place after depositing therein the loved remains of their lost one, than from the damp, chilly cellar, where nothing but darkness and mould are found, to give the last impression of the one whose body is deposited in its cold embrace. It is not yet too late to make the change. Let it be done and thousands of bereaved citizens will learn to bless the work. P.

We find the following in the New York Sun, explanatory of the action of that new-fashioned pirate, Captain Eyre, in steaming away from a ship-load of sinking sailors:

In his testimony before the court at Yokohama, Capt. Eyre of the steamship Bombay, stated that he was not allowed to stop unless it was absolutely necessary to do so in order to save life. A gentleman familiar with the service of the Peninsula and Oriental Steam Navigation Company—to which the Bombay belongs—says that the directors require the captains to make their trips as short as possible, and that the commander who is delayed from any cause is sure to be censured. So rigid are the regulations that if a captain should see a ship making signals of distress, he would hesitate to go to her aid for fear of lengthening his voyage and thereby incurring the risk of reproof and dismissal. With this kind of discipline the P. and O. Company insures promptness on the part of its officers, but at the same time it stifles their humanity and leads to conduct like that of Capt. Eyre. The blame for the death of the brave men on the Oneida belongs in part to the directors who made at their office in London the regulations which the captain of the Bombay obeyed.

The Boston Times aptly asks, wouldn't it be a good idea to put the directors of the Peninsula and Oriental Company on board a craft and have them run into by another too selfish and greedy to assist them or hear their drowning cries? Would the world lose or gain by the operation?

In conversation the other day, Admiral Farragut expressed the opinion that the Miantonomoh, ugly as she is, if she could get alongside the Monarch's broadside, would make short work of her.

Captain Frederick Laybush, of New York, entered upon his 105th year Wednesday. He served in the Peninsular war, was at Waterloo, and guarded Napoleon during his imprisonment at St. Helena.

The German translations of Dickens have made his works popular all over Germany. He is always mentioned by his early nom-de-plume, Boz, which the Germans after the analogy of their language invariably pronounce Bots. They think the English a strange language, to spell a man's name Dickens and call him Bots!

The London Times discourages the project of building [illegible] Darien. But is "discouraged" the Suez canal until Lesseps built it. Meanwhile Capt. Selfridge of the Nipsic has begun the survey under pleasant auspices.

The New York Senate has before it a bill [illegible]

The Phenix Insurance Company of Brooklyn, N. Y., was incorporated under the laws of the State of New York, in September, 1853, with a paid up Capital of $200,000.

The Insurance Laws of New York are universally admitted to be the BEST IN THE WORLD, as by them the Policy-holder is protected at all hazards.

DECEMBER 31, 1869, the Company could have paid back its Capital to the Stockholders, re-insured every risk in good companies, paid off all Liabilities, and had a net Reserve of over $300,000. These results have been attained by a careful scrutiny of Risks, a careful selection of Agents, and an economical administration of the Company's affairs.

And, as in the above period, so few Companies have "held their own," especial attention is requested to this showing of the onward progress of the PHENIX.

NO SAFER OR BETTER INVESTMENT

THAN THE

First Mortgage Seven Per Cent.

GOLD BONDS

OF THE

Central Railroad of Iowa.

At 95, free fom Tax.

This railroad runs 234 miles north and south through the finest and most thickly settled portion of the magnificent State of Iowa, and the only link wanting to connect the railway centres at St Louis and St Paul by an unbroken line, 147 miles shorter than any existing route. This road offers many advantages. The building of the railroad north from St Paul to Duluth, at the head of Lake Superior, where five railroads will soon centre—the construction of the North Pacific railroad, already begun—and the rapid development of a new and productive country in Minnesota and the Northwest, must furnish a large Southern traffic. As the Upper Mississippi is frozen over during the Winter, and its navigation is often uncertain during the Summer, from low water, this road must have at all times a large amount of transportation, and a monopoly of the business at some seasons of the year. Its connections with other lines interested by mutual ownership or running arrangements, will give it almost the entire north and south travel between its terminal points and their vicinity.

This road will have a great advantage over any other Western line in carrying the best quality of coal from where it is abundant in Southern Iowa to Northern Iowa and Minnesota, where none is to be found, and in securing return freights of lumber, for which the demand is very great.

The construction of the road is not an experiment, dependent upon any uncertain negotiation of its bonds. It is in the hands of gentlemen of wealth and ability, comprising many leading bankers and railroad builders of experience. Forty-six miles of the line just completed, and eighty-eight miles more are graded. An abundant supply of iron, ties, and other materials has been contracted for. The Company have a large and daily increasing surplus of money on hand, and the stock subscriptions, and the sales of the bonds, give them ample means to push the work forward, so that, with favorable weather, it is expected that the whole line will be completed this season.

Security of the Investment.

So far as we can learn, every completed railroad in the Northwest is not only earning the interest on its bonds, but a dividend on its stock, and we believe the CENTRAL OF IOWA must occupy an equally strong financial position.

The amount of Bonds to be issued is but $16,000 per mile, or less than four millions, in all,

Of which over One Million have already been Sold.

As we consider these securities among the choicest in the market, we have no doubt that the remainder will be rapidly taken, so that it may be well for parties desiring to purchase to do so at once.

WE BELIEVE THERE WILL BE NO MORE FAVORABLE TIME TO SELL GOVERNMENTS, AND BUY REALLY FIRST-CLASS RAILROAD SECURITIES—SUCH AS THESE—THAN THE PRESENT.

After a full examination, we have accepted an Agency for the Sale of the above First Mortgage Bonds, and desire to recommend them to our customers AS A THOROUGHLY SAFE, AS WELL AS PROFITABLE, INVESTMENT. We have no hesitation in saying that, in our opinion, the CENTRAL RAILROAD OF IOWA will be the most important and valuable roads in the West.

POETRY.

THE BEDOUIN'S REBUKE.

Nehar a Bedouin of noble heart,
That from all men received of praise the fee,
Owned a brave horse with which he would not part
Because from death he once had run him free
The man and beast were friends, and it is vice
To sell our friends or friendship for a price

The horse was black and strong, his step was proud
His neck was arched, his ear alert for sound,
His speed the tempest's, and his mane a cloud,
His hoofs woke thunder from the desert ground
His eyes flashed lightning from their inmost core,
Victor of Distance was the name he bore

Dahar, a Bedouin of another tribe,
Had often wished to buy this famous beast
And as he smoked and heard his friends describe
Its comely parts and powers, the wish increased,
But Nehar said the horse should not be sold,
Though offered wealth in camels and in gold

Then Dahar put on rags, and stained his face,
And went to wait for Nehar seeming lame
Him soon he saw approach with daring pace
Upon the envied horse; and as he came
He cried to him For three days on this spot
Have I lain starving, pity my lot

And seeing Nehar, said on "if die—
My strength is gone" Down Nehar sprang,
And raised him gently, with a pitying sigh,
And set him on his horse A laugh outrang
And Dahar shouted as he plunged his spurs
Fair price refused one sells at last for burrs.'

'Stay' stay!' cried Nehar, Dahar I am not to hear
Since Heaven has willed that you my beast should take,
I wish you joy but tell no man, for fear
Another who was really starved might make
Appeal in vain, for some remembering me
Would fail to do an act of charity

Oh sharp as steel to Dahar seemed remorse
He paused a moment then sprang to the ground
And with bowed head brought Nehar back his horse
And falling on his honest breast in wound
His arms about his neck for first words
And ever afterward the two were friends

If all of us whene'er we suffer wrong
Should bear it meekly since God wills it so,
Not lend our speech to anger like the song
The morning stars sang life would pass below,
For he who lightly draws the sword of wrath,
Wounds most himself, and crowds with life his path

"THEE EVIDENTLY HAS ACQUAINTANCES THAT I HAVE NOT" The Jersey City Times tells this story of Philadelphia

Among the people who attended the Philadelphia market the other afternoon was a citizen of West Jersey He brought a stock of eggs and butter In a big coop in the rear most part of the wagon he had a splendid peacock, whose tail spread out beautiful even to gorgeousness, like the trail of a lady's dress An Irishman passing observed the splendid plumage of the bird and asked its price

Thee can have it for fifteen dollars" was the reply of the owner, whose garb indicated him as a member of the Society of Friends

'That's a good price," was the interrogative remark of the Celt, as he smoothed the ample tail of the feathered biped

"There are plenty of people who will gave that for him 'was the placid and very true rejoinder

The Celt surveyed the bird admired his proportions, but still endeavored to cheapen him

'Mister,' said he, at last, to the grave gentleman who held the bird for sale, 'people say that these birds have a very bad voice"

'I have nothing to say about their voices,' was the quiet reply "If thee wants the fowl, thee can take it, if thee does not, its voice does not make any matter to thee"

"But," said the Celt, "don t them birds holler like the devil?"

"Friend" was the placid reply, "thee probably in that respect has an advantage over me If thee thinks that the scream of this bird is like to that of thy friend, whom thee has named, I, in my ignorance, will not presume to contradict thee'

AFFECTION OF A HORSE When the First Rhode Island Battery went to Washington, a pair of French horses which had worked together were sent with it Owing to difference of color they were separated and re matched But after the change one of them refused to eat, and pined away, so as to be unserviceable, and to all appearances seemed sick unto death. A member of the battery, familiar with their history and with horses, expressed the opinion that the separation from his mate was the cause of his sickness, and at his suggestion he was returned to his old place. With eminent pleasure at the change, he began immediately to improve in health, grew fat as well as happy, and faithfully, with his loved mate, did his duty at the battle of Bull Run
